Supply of data

The contact point is via the Isle of Wight Council (lrc@iow.gov.uk). Species and site data can be supplied as listed below. Records of species are drawn from local specialists.

IWLRC requests that you complete the following form before it will release the relevant data held. Data is contributed from a variety of sources, from large organisations to amateur naturalists. A large proportion of the species records have been provided by the Isle of Wight Natural History & Archaeological Society on behalf of specialist recorders. With the IWLRC acting as agent these individuals and groups, who have provided their records free of charge, have the right to retain copyright on their data. IWLRC retains copyright on its database holdings. In the interests of legal protection of all parties concerned you are asked to sign the declaration at the end of this form.

Whilst the information in itself will remain free, IWLRC reserves the right to charge a reasonable (non-profit) cost to cover administration (to capture, audit, maintain, extract and supply data). A proportion of this income is used to promote, support and assist the voluntary recording community on the Isle of Wight without whom there would be limited species data. Some enquiries may be exempt from charges. You are required to acknowledge IWLRC in all documents containing any part of the information released.

As of 1st April 2017, the cost for commercial searches (for ecological consultants and developers) will be £120 plus VAT per hour, followed by half hourly increments of £60 plus VAT.

As a guide:

- A 1km radius search from a supplied grid reference point will cost on average £120
- A 2 km radius search from a supplied grid reference point will cost on average £240.
- A 2km buffer around an area may cost up to £360.
- A request for species only is likely to be £120 for a 1km search or £180 for a 2km search from a supplied grid reference point.
- If no relevant data exists within the search area, the fee will be waived

Under most circumstances there will be a minimum charge of £120 plus VAT per enquiry.

For all searches, a quotation will be supplied on receipt of the request.

We aim to fulfil data requests within 10 working days of receiving firm instructions to proceed with a search. We regret we are unable to offer a priority response service as we do not have sufficient capacity to offer this service.
